MORE BLOODSHED IN CLATBORNE.

The Veterans Wm. Fugate shoots Jos. S. McVay, an old man of 75 years, one of the wealthiest and most prominent men of Clatsborne, in a blood-drenched battle.

Tazewell, Tenn., Oct. 14, 1879.

MR. EDITOR: At one o'clock p. m. to-day, hearing two shots fired in rapid succession, your correspondent knowing that there were several dangerous characters in town, under the influence of liquor, hastened out upon Main street, and found a large crowd surging down the street in the direction of Sheriff Mayes' hotel. No one seemed to know what was the matter. On reaching the hotel, he learned that William Fugate, notorious as the man who has killed more men in drunken draws than any other man of his age in the State, had added one more victim to his long list by shooting and dangerously wounding Jos. S. McVay, an old man of 75 years of age, and one of the most influential and wealthiest citizens of this county. The following is as near as can be learned, the particulars of the difficulty. While at dinner at Mayes' a dispute arose between Wm. Fugate and Joseph S. and Capt. T. S. McVay, son of Jos. regarding the title of their farms, which lay adjoining.

All were under the influence of liquor. "Query" Where did they get their whiskey? None being sold nearer than four miles of the place. Are the Revenue and the Revenue doing their duty? At a dinner they had some words again about their touching lines. From this the conversation drifted into a discussion of the "state debt" question. Jos. McVay is a Republican, and took the ground that it all ought to be repudiated, while Fugate, who is a Democrat, favored the settlement of the debt on the basis of the 50-4 proposition. The discussion became very heated. Fugate struck at Capt. McVay's face, and pulled his hat down over his eyes, and ran his hand into his pocket for his pistol. Jos. McVay seeing this motion struck Fugate under the ear and felled him to the ground. As he fell he drew his pistol and fired at old man McVay, the ball striking him in the left shoulder. After he was down he fired another shot, which struck McVay in the center of the right thigh. The ball entered his shoulder just under the shoulder-blade and ranged back toward the spine, and lodged just underneath the spine, the ball in his thigh ranged up the Doctor pried the wound to the depth of four inches, but was unable to find the ball. Fugate's head is bruised and cut considerably, but not seriously, by the rocks upon which he fell. The pistol used was a Smith & Wesson, 33 calibre, improved. He has been arrested, and is now in custody awaiting his trial, which will come off to-morrow morning.

McVay's wounds are considered dangerous. Since the year 1867, Fugate has been constantly indicted for murder. As soon as out of one case he has made way for another by another murder. He is a man of considerable wealth, and when not under the influence of liquor is a quiet and well behaved citizen. He has so far managed to escape the penalties of the law, and his past record would seem to indicate that his latest crime will like all his others go unpunished.

ZENOETHAN.

East Tennessee Dental Association.

MR. EDITOR: Thinking some of your readers might be interested in the progress of dentistry in East Tennessee, and there being no other reporter present, I have concluded to give you a short report of the proceedings of the East Tennessee Dental Association. The Association met at Morristown, Tennessee, on Tuesday, the 14th of October, and continued three days. Though the attendance was not so large as last year, the interest manifested made the meeting quite a success. During the session, several very fine essays were read, among them one by Dr. S. M. Prothro, of Chattanooga. This paper was par excellence, and offered a rare mental feast to those present.

Our President, Dr. T. J. Speck, in his annual address, gave many points of interest, all of which were listened to with marked attention, and will be highly beneficial to those in attendance.

On Wednesday evening, the Association proceeded to elect officers for the ensuing year, which resulted as follows: President, Dr. S. M. Prothro, of Chattanooga; Vice President, Dr. R. A. B. Moyers, of Pikeville; Recording Secretary and Treasurer, Dr. A. V. Peck, of Kingston; Corresponding Secretary, Dr. J. C. Stephens, of Rogersville; Dr. Prothro, Cook, Palmer and Stephens were elected delegates to attend the next annual meeting of the American Dental Association, to be held in New York.

Dr. Speck, Carson, Lee and Moyers were elected delegates to attend the next annual meeting of the National Dental Association at Atlanta.

Chattanooga was selected as the place for the next meeting, the first Tuesday in August, 1879.

The M. D's of Morristown were with us, and took part in the discussion.

Dr. J. C. Morrison, of the Tennessee Dental Depot, Nashville, Tenn., was in attendance with a large stock of dental goods, and all the late improvements in the way of instruments, etc., giving the Society a chance to select.

Success in the Stock Market.

Few people understand how large fortunes are amassed so rapidly in stock operations. Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., have just published a special treatise on "Success in the Stock Market," and full details of how any one can operate. Mailed free. Their new combination system of dealing in stocks is wonderfully profitable. By this method thousands of orders, in the aggregate, are pooled into one immense capital, and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of vast capital and best skill. Profits divided every day. $15 would make $75. $100 would make $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock in the month, and so on, according to the market.

A New York Fashion Editor and prominent newspaper correspondent made over $25 per cent. profit on an investment, Oct. 5th, 1878. Many others are doing as well or better. Large or small amounts can be used with equal proportionate success by this system. All kinds of stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

Ladies

Do you want a pure, blooming complexion? If so, a few applications of Hagan's MAGNOLIA BALM will gratify you to your heart's content. It does away with sallowness, Redness, Pimples, Blotches, and all diseases and imperfections of the skin. It overcomes the flushed appearance of heat, fatigue and excitement. It makes a lady of THIRTY appear but TWENTY; and so natural, gradual, and perfect are its effects, that it is impossible to detect its application.
